FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S DESK

By KENNEITH BULLOCK
Principal, Carmel High School

IN A COMMUNITY area where many artists reside and numerous galleries display a variety of artistic works, it is perhaps not surprising that several of the teachers at Carmel High School have talents for professional-level work in a variety of art forms.

William Stone, chairman of the productive arts program at Carmel High School, has a long background as a professional artist and teacher. After graduation in art at U.C. Berkeley, he worked for three years as a medical illustrator before completing work for his teaching credential at San Jose State University. He has taught at the Campbell High School District near San Jose, and at Carmel High for the past nine years.

His principal artistic expressions are found in watercolor and collage. For some time he was essentially a traditional water colorist, but for the last two years he has sought to create montage effects in line and bright watercolor while using traditional scenes as his model. He displays his works at both the Village Artistry and the Carmel Art Association. He has also served for three terms as the president of the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art.

Talks on art and demonstration of collage techniques to various civic groups are included in his personal commitment to the art world. And he finds time to participate in an occasional role at the Studio Theater, rehearsing now for the next production of "Forty Carats".

Fabric wall hangings are the special skill of Miss Sue Williams, homemaking instructor. She utilizes several techniques--batik, stenciling, and direct application of dye--in making more contemporary and personalized works than is possible with the regular batik process. While a student at U.C. Davis, where she majored in design, she developed skills which led directly to her own workshop for custom designed clothes in Berkeley and then San Francisco, before setting up a silk screening process for a national dress manufacturer.

She displayed her works in several shows in the Bay area before coming to Carmel in 1971 as a teacher. Her works now are on permanent display at the Whole Earth Craft Center on Cannery Row and at a current exhibit at the Village House in the Valley.

Jack Savage, graphics and photography instructor, got into his part-time profession of wedding photographer as the result of skills he developed as a teacher. Having been appointed advisor to the school newspaper a few years ago, he found it expedient to learn photography in connection with his school duties. This soon led to teaching photography classes, one of the more popular courses in the school, and to the development of a personal skill. Last summer he spent five weeks in a three-year program of studies at the Brooks Institute of Photography in Santa Barbara with 50 other teachers from around the nation who were interested in learning professional photography.

Skills of this type have been put to use by Savage, especially during the summer when he provides photographic work for as many as 30 weddings on the Peninsula.

Richard Hilton, english major from Colby College in Maine, and English instructor, learned about ceramics from a fellow high school teacher, Lloyd Baskerville, and some of his students at the high school. While his work in ceramic sculpture is currently on exhibit at the Village House, he is interested in all forms of expression, including stained glass and wood construction. As he essentially makes most things for his own edification, he ranks himself as almost exclusively an avocationalist. But his major works clearly demonstrate professional imagination and skill.

J.A. ORIGINALS is the "nom d'art" of James Agan, head of the industrial arts program. A graduate of San Jose State in industrial arts with a master's degree, with most of his work in the art field, Agan's artistic expressions are found in hand-wrought and lost wax cast jewelry. He uses both silver and gold as his medium, although widely fluctuating and rising gold prices make this a chancy sideline for a teacher.

Agan teaches crafts, among other high school subjects, and he taught adult education in Carmel for 11 years as well. His current works are essentially avocational leisure time products done on commission, but he does have the Village Artistry as a local retail outlet.

Lowell Battcher, the woodworking part of the industrial arts team, uses his summer time to design and build commissioned furniture. A graduate in woods and crafts from Fresno State, he, along with Agan, finds that coaching high school athletic teams restricts his artistic efforts to the off-season.

CARMEL VALLEY CHAMBER NEWS

By CHUCK WOODSON,
PRESIDENT

Dear Carmel Valley Merchants:

I want to express my thanks to the members of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce for allowing me the opportunity to serve in the community.

I have lived on the Monterey Peninsula for over 15 years. I attended Carmel High School and graduated from Monterey High School in 1963. I studied hotel and restaurant management at Monterey Peninsula College, working in the industry while I was attending school. I bought the Buckeye Restaurant in Carmel Valley in February of 1971 and have been operating the restaurant ever since.

I would like to see the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce be in touch with all activities that relate directly or indirectly to our businesses in the valley. We should have 100 per cent membership and participation, as through this organization we can be in contact with the developments of the community. I call on each and everyone of the merchants to step forward to join and help make our Chamber the backbone of our community.

The following is a letter being sent to all the merchants to encourage membership and attendance in the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce. Also enclosed with this letter is an envelope with paper to allow the merchants to write down his feelings on the direction the Carmel Valley Chamber should take.

After each monthly meeting of the Board of Directors we will have a column in the Carmel Valley Outlook stating the business that was discussed at the meeting. I hope this is a service that will help keep valleyites up to date with our business.

CARMEL VALLEY
CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
CHARLES R. WOODSON,
President

"I am very pleased to hold the office of President of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce for the year of 1974. This year I feel is going to be a little more critical for the businesses in Carmel Valley because of the world economic situation. We all want to see our businesses prosper and grow. For this to happen I feel we should join hands working together closely through our local Chamber of Commerce.

"Of the total businesses in Carmel Valley including Carmel Valley Village, Mid-Valley, Carmel Center, Carmel Rancho, only 50 per cent or less belong to our Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce. This is appalling to me. What can we do about this? The Chamber of Commerce was originated for the business men to use coordinating with one another in a joint effort to create more business. If you the merchants do not feel that your Chamber of Commerce is fulfilling that end, we should remedy it right away and get on with the business of bringing more dollars to Carmel Valley. The areas I can see need a little more attention are advertising, coordinating with the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce and Visitors and Convention Bureau, and trying to create more Carmel Valley dollars spent in Carmel Valley. If you, the Carmel Valley business men have any other suggestions with regards to the direction our Chamber of Commerce should take, please fill in the enclosed and forward to me immediately. These suggestions will be my guidelines for 1974 as President of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce. I sincerely hope you will find the time to participate in 1974."

A COLUMN

By BOB KENNEDY
EDITOR

Valley residents who saw the sky filled with balloons last Friday may be wondering what was going on.

Students at Carmelo School participated in a weather experiment in conjunction with a school project. Each student prepared a note which was supposed to be affixed with a long string to a helium-filled balloon.

It turned out, however, the notes were too heavy to be carried aloft, so instead, a brief form letter was attached to each balloon explaining the experiment. The students are asking the finders of their balloons to contact Carmelo School and tell them when and where the balloons were found.

Shortly after 1 p.m. last Friday, 110 colorful balloons were released by the students. As is normally the case, some of the balloons popped before the launch time, and others escaped skyward prior to launch time, to the disappointment of the holder.

The original notes prepared by the youngsters, many humerous, have been preserved by their instructors.

The following letters were selected at random from the 110 which were written:

Dear old fellow, we are doing an experiment at Carmelo School. Can we ask you some questions?
Where did you find it?
Was the weather bad?
Please send this letter to Carmelo.

Corporation Yard permit also gets axe

Planners deny dump site Use Permit request

By BOB KENNEDY

To the surprise of some, and the pleasure of many Carmel Valley residents the proposed refuse disposal and compacting site, and the proposed County Corporation yard received the axe last night.

Before a standing-room-only crowd in the Supervisors' chambers, the Monterey County Panning Commission almost unanimously denied two use permit applications for the two facilities.

The key word which apparently convinced the Commission to deny the two requests was "inconsistency."

Following lengthy presentations by both proponents and opponents of the disposal site and county yard, the commission agreed that the two plans were inconsistent with the county's general plan, and also that if the two facilities were approved surrounding land values could greatly decrease.

The commission's decision ended a day-long session which began at 9 a.m., and finally adjourned at 8 p.m.

The chambers was clogged with Schulte Road and surrounding area residents opposing the Use Permit application, and it appeared the only persons in attendance supporting the action were those directly involved with the two proposed facilities.

Arguments against the sites ranged from pollution, noise, traffic congestion, traffice hazards, land values and the aesthetic effect on the area.

Arguments for the sites included the need for a centrally located plant to transfer compacted garbage to the dump site in Marina, a decrease in the number of refuse trucks traveling up and down Highway 1, and no other suitable location could be found.

Protestors presented petitions with hundreds of signatures, and several letters from Valley residents.

Bill Brown, president of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association spoke in favor of the Use Permit applications first as he had to leave early to attend the quarterly meeting and installation of officers of the CVPOA. He said the search for an alternate site had produced negative results. "If anybody has another site, I'd be glad to listen," he said. He added that he was convinced that every effort would be made to regulate the hours of operation, hours of public use, and health and safety standards.

Don Wilson, a Department of Public Works official, also defended the site. "There's no place we can go where people won't be against it," he said. He pointed out that the Monterey County Health Department and the Public Works Department both approved of the proposals with strict conditions and regulations.

Louis Wolter, Valley merchant and property owner, accused the proponents of not seriously looking for an alternative site. "I don't believe they've really looked," he charged.

Ted Neth, a spokesman for the residents of the Shulte Road property owners presented a petition with 128 signatures and more letters from residents of Carmel Valley Manor representing 240 persons all in opposition to the site proposal. "This is a very dramatic decision you are about to make," he cautioned, "which we will have to live with for the next 40 or so years. This problem should be studied on a Peninsula-wide basis." He suggested that the county seek a suitable location for a centralized compacting and transfer site which could better serve the entire Peninsula. He added that the petition from Carmel Valley Manor residents was not solicited.

Another resident of the area, Ron Warren, complained that there are no adequate holding and turning lanes at the mouth of Shulte Road and Carmel Valley Road. He also suggested that if the plants were constructed, it would be the owner's responsibility to police Shulte Road and remove any rubbish which may fall from the trucks.

Melvin Steiner, an attorney representing a property owner whose land is adjacent to the proposed sites, said his client was opposed to the plan because he intends to develop the land in the near future, and his land would decrease in value if the Use Permits were approved.

Lou McCreery, another property owner in the area told commissioners, "This is contrary to the concepts of the Master Plan." He added, What I'm trying to say is , please, be consistent in your zoning."

A.E. Nicholson, resident of Scarlett Road, expressed concern over traffic congestion and speed hazards, and the possibility of increased air pollution. He argued that although there would be a reduction in dump truck traffic on Highway 1, there would be an increase in congestion on Carmel Valley Road. He added that the traffic hazards which now exist on Carmel Valley Road would be increased considerably because of impatient motorists attempting to pass the slower moving trucks.

Also opposing the Use Permit requests was the Lower Carmel Valley Advisory Committee.

Last evening's large turnout was prompted by a meeting last Friday night at the Baptist Church on Shulte Road at which approximately 110 residents of the area met to discuss the two Use Permit requests. Ted Neth was the spokesman for the group. Letters were sent out ot property owners within a ½ mile radius of the proposed site.

Neth said today that the group was not opposed to the need for such a site, but felt it did not belong in a residential area zoned for single dwellings.

"We're not trying to throw rocks at anybody," he said.

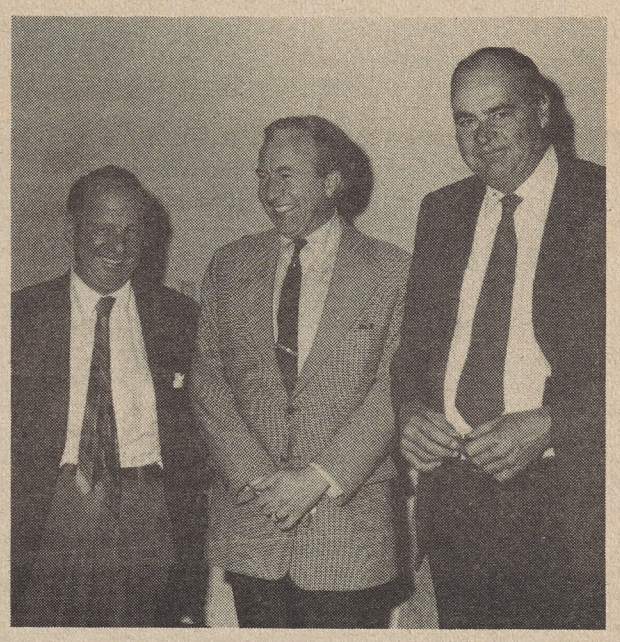
Appeal filed

At press time today, it was learned that the law offices of Walker, Schroeder, Davis and Brehmer of Monterey and Carmel, have filed a notice of appeal over last night's decision by the Planning Commission denying the two Use Permits.

The appeal is being made on behalf of the Carmel Valley Disposal Company, property owners of the proposed site and the County Road Department.

Valley Property Owners install new officers

SOME OF THE NEW directors of the CVPOA are shown here following last night's meeting. They are, from left, Don Harrison, two year director; Dick Kruger, treasurer; Al Eisner, two-year director; Oliver White, two-year director, and John Sigourney, two-year director. Other directors installed were William B. Zeleny, and carry-over directors Victoria Gibson, Betty Wilson, and Diane Norby. One vacancy on the board will be appointed at next weeks director's regular meeting. Photographs by Randy Chappell.



BILL BROWN, incumbent president of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association chats informally with the CVPOA's two featured speakers at last night's installation meeting held at the Community Center. Moe Orett, head of the County Public Works Department, center, spoke on the future of the Valley's roads, and Bill Seeberger of the Joint Powers Agency, right, spoke on the feasibility of public transportation in the Valley. Officers elected to new terms were Brown, Dolores Anderson, vice president; Marian Engstrom, scretary, and Dick Kruger, treasurer.

Development program considered

Carmel Unified School District is considering entering into a proposed joint venture with the Monterey and Pacific Grove School Districts for a community development center.

Although the proposal was made last March 28, the board indicated its support for the Community Schools Resource Center, but no action had been taken, and it was again brought up at the Board's last meeting.

If approved, the center would provide numerous services which include the following:

---Provide resource people to the schools.
---Arrange career mini-seminars.
---Arrange community on-site visitations for students.
---Arrange community research study situations.
---Arrange short-term community exploratory experience.
---Arrange for community consultants and advisors to district programs.
---Secure career mentors for students.
---Serve as an information center to aid in the placement of high school students upon graduation.
---Provide career planning programs for parents.
---Arrange teacher observations and work experience situations in the community.
---Coordinate with other community agencies and organizations who provide similar career development services, (Explorer Scout program, Human Resources Development, and others.)
---Develop a prototype career information center.

Although no official action has been taken, Carmel Unified School District has been participating in the program which is headed by Mrs. Ralph Johnsen, Monterey. Local School District representatives are Mrs. Richard Bell, Mrs. Louise Fisher, and O.C. Rogers.

If the board approves the proposal which is still under consideration, the District would be charged approximately $1,500 of a total cost of $10,000 for the 1973-74 school year.

CVPOA directors meeting Feb. 6

Newly installed officers and directors of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association will hold their first official meeting for the coming year Wednesday, Feb. 6. The board of directors meeting will be held at the Carmel Middle School library, starting at 8 p.m.

The general membership is invited to attend all CVPOA board meetings.

Five are injured on Valley Road

Five persons were injured this week in two separate auto accidents which occurred on Carmel Valley Road.

The first mishap occurred Tuesday three miles west of Arroyo Seco Road. According to the Highway Patrol, J.D. Davis, 50, and his two sons, Jack Davis 26, and Bobby Davis, 25, all of Salinas were taken to Memorial Hospital with injuries listed from moderate to serious.

The Highway Patrol reported that the senior Davis, driver of the car, was driving on the wrong side of the road, traveling eastbound on Carmel Valley Road when he swerved to the right to avoid striking an oncoming car. His car struck the shoulder and overturned, and rolled down a 150-foot embankment, coming to rest in a creekbed.

In the second single-car accident, Nathan Pugh, 19, Palo Colorado Canyon and his passenger, Harry Rowan, 35, also of Palo Colorado Canyon, both received injuries when Pugh's car went out of control after passing a slower moving vehicle, and rolled twice. The accident occurred early Wednesday morning on Carmel Valley Road at the foot of Laureles Grade.

Pugh was transported to Community Hospital with moderate injuries, and Rowen was reported as having minor injuries, according to the Highway Patrol.

One of these things is not like the others. One of these things, tra-la, just isn't the same . . .Toothpick, Icepick, Guitar Pick, Hoofpick.

Did you choose "Hoofpick"? Right you are! And how is a hoofpick different from the others? It's different because it's the one you have to bend over to use.

Yes you have to assume that undignified position. Horsemanship is full of things you wouldn't want photographed from the wrong angle.

When you first picked out a horse to buy did you realize your choice would have to be picked out every day? His feet must be cleaned daily.

Horses' feet come in contact with the nasty dirty ground. If his hooves are not picked out every day they may rot or mildew or something. Also one checks for rocks and hurty things caught in the hoof. The state of one's horseshoes is not a secret between the horse and his blacksmith either. No foot--no horse, for all practical purposes.

Did you guess that falling in love with The Black Stallion would lead to playing footsie with Flatfood Floogie on the Floy Floy?

Many otherwise normal horselovers are quite shy about picking up their horse's feet. Their subconscious shudders with silly mother's warnings: "Don't walk behind the horsie dear, he might kick." Silly mothers who don't know that the rear end of a horse, like the butt end of a rifle, is not the most dangerous end.

Also, the horse does not seem cooperative. The shy soul snaps his fingers, "one, two, three, hup!" and the dumb horse just stands there as if the blacksmith had nailed its horseshoes to the ground.

How does one give a leg up to a horse? If you give a horse a foot, will it take a mile?

First you tie the horse without much slack in his rope This is to protect yourself from a horse's sense of humor. The occasional horse seeing you bend over its hoof will turn its head and nip you right on the --ahem--target. Therefore, you carry out the military maneuver called defending your rear or whatever it's called and tie the rope short.

Let us first pick up a front foot. They've stepped on your toes a few times but you've recovered. Besides, mother never told you about forelegs.

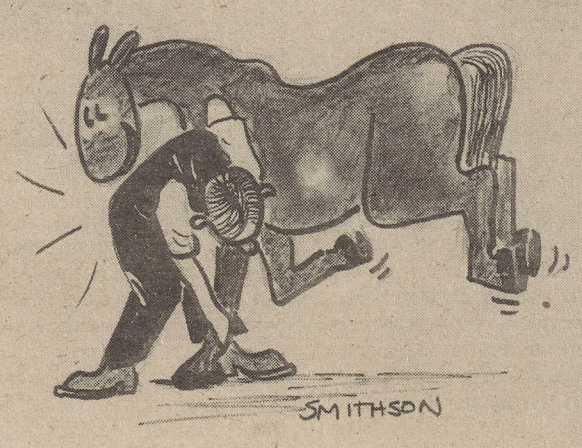
Stand beside the horse's shoulder facing his rear. Run your hand down the horse's leg from shoulder to ankle. Lean into the horse's shoulder to push his weight over onto the other foreleg. Lift and hold.

Suppose you lift but no hoof comes up for you to hold? Two courses of action are open to you. You can pinch the sensitive tendons just above the horse's ankles. Or better, you can throw a football player-type hip block into his shoulder area and while he's off balance lift real hard. O. J. Simpson, eat your heart out!

But, suppose old Four-Pillars-of-Iron picks his foot up real fast and puts it right back down again. It is not necessary to repeat the running your hand down the leg from the shoulder part. Just repreat the shove and lift. Only this time grab the tippy toe end of the hoof and lift it up hard. Bend it toward the horse's elbow. This stretches all the ligaments along the front of his leg and ouch! Immobilizes any attempt to resist you.

Don't crouch or kneel to clean a horse's hoof. That's just asking to be stepped on.

The bottom of a horse's front hoof is almost round. If it is oval or narrow towards the heels it has not been growing right. Sometimes you see oval hooves on a horse that has been sick or who has worn constricting horseshoes without having them reset frequently enough.



IF YOU GIVE a horse a foot, will it take a mile?

The bottom of the horse's hoof is covered with hard horn not unlike the outside walls of the hoof. This is the frog, the horse's shock absorber. It comes in contact with the ground every time the horse puts his foot down. If it didn't the hoof would not function effectively.

Beside the frog on each side is a shallow cleft which is sure to be full of dirt. Dig the hoofpick into this dirt starting at the heel end and pry towards the point of the frog-triangle. Sometimes, if you're lucky, the whole saucerful of dirt caked inside the hoof will fall out when you do this. What a pat on theego for the skillful hoofpicker!

Clean out the entire bottom of the horse's hoof, paying special attention to the clefts on either side of the frog and the shallow one in the center of the frog.

Now the back leg. The horsie is not going to kick you before you pick up his foot. And after you pick up his foot, he can't kick you. Well, not very well.

For one thing you're too close to be kicked. The position for picking up the horse's back leg is to snuggle up next to his hip. There's no room for the horse to develop a power stroke for a hard kick.

Run your hand down the horse's leg from hip to ankle. Now he knows what you're up to. He's not going to kick from surprise.

Not much in the way of shoving or lifting is necessary to get a horse to lift his hind leg. Most horses bring the leg up high and fast when you apply just a little lift. You must quickly move your hand to the hoof and hold the leg up. If you fail to snatch the hoof he's going to set it back down again.

Some horses shake their back leg as if they were going to tug-of-war with you for possession of the hoof. Try the flexing-the-hoof-upwards trick. Or tap the bottom of the hoof as if you were a blacksmith going to work. Some horses hate to have their back feet held if they think you're not doing anything.

A horse who tries to shake a leg for the blacksmith will be swatted with the flat of the blacksmith's rasp. This makes a wonderful impression on him. The horseowner may want to remind his horse. A couple of taps on the bottom of the hind hoof may cause the horse to stand very still and behave himself.

The hind hoof is more oval than the front hoof. It still should not have contracted heels. Clean it out heel to toe as you did the front one.

Don't just let go of the back leg when you are done. Pull the hoof slightly forward and help the horse to set it down in weight-bearing position.

Pick up and pick out all four hooves in the same order every day. The horse will be more cooperative when he learns the routine.

Afterwards you can adjourn to the bar for a real pick-me-up, like bourbon and branch water.

Swim Club heads for championships

The Cypress Swim Club heads into the Pacific AAU Age Group Synchronized Swimming Championships this weekend at Balboa Park Pool in San Francisco with two of its members favored to win the 15-17 age group Duet competition and one of them holding a lead of eight-tenths of a point in the Solo competition.

In the first phase of the PAAU Championships, the compulsory and optional Figures competition, held last weekend in the same pool, despite the fact that they are among the youngest members of this age group, Gerri Brandly and Kathryn Blevens of Carmel Valley scored an upset victory over entries from such outstanding Bay Area clubs as the Santa Clara Aquamaids, San Francisco Merionettes, and Walnut Creeek Aquanuts, winning first and second places respectively.

In AAU competitive synchronized swimming, the points scored in the Figures competition are added to the score for the Routine competition which will take place this weekend, so their combined placements put their duet in almost certain contention for first place in that event. Since Ms. Brandly, who won the Figures champioship, does not have a solo entry, Ms. Blevens, now riding in second place in that competition, has a slim lead over Michele Sutherland of the Aquamaids for the Solo crown.

Also winning a second place in last week's competition was Maureen Dentch in the 18-and-over age group. Ms. Dentch, a recent arrival from Florida, was competing in her first Pacific AAU competition.

Cypress coaches are also hopeful, but less confident, that their team entries in the 13-14 and the 15-17 age groups will place in the top three this weekend thereby qualifying them to enter the Region XIII Championships to be held in Huntington Beach in mid-February. However, with the AAU rule which grants a half-point bonus to each member over four on a team. Cypress with four-girl teams in each event will have a decided disadvantage over the larger Bay Area teams.

Other Cypress placements last week were: (10-and-under) Cheryl Braud, 5th; Paris Oliver, 22nd; (11-12) Allyson Braud, 14th; Pavia Wald, 33rd; Kerry Wald, 75th; (13-14) Tina Wald, 40th; Leslie Henry, 42nd; (15-17) Kim Pilkenton, 16th; and Liz Wilson, 36th. There were 220 swimmers entered in the Figures competition.

ROCK CRUSHER, AREA MASTER PLAN

The County's plans for a Park and Recreation District--in which Carmel Valley is intimately involved--and the rock crusher which Mike Dormody has been operating on the San Carlos Ranch are the two subjects on the agenda for the Mid-Carmel Valley Property Owners Association Wednesday, Feb.12. The group will meet at 8:00 p.m. at Carmel School and the public is invited. New residents of the Mid-Valley area are especially urged to attend by Muriel Calabrese, MCVPOA secretary.

ELUSIVE FAME

Did you see the article about Carmel Valley's Hastings Reservation in the last Sunday's Bonanza magazine supplement of the San Francisco Chronicle? The photo credit "Owen Patrick" caught our eye. Sure enough the shutterbug of Schulte Road was responsible, but we want to add that Mona, (Mrs. Patrick) wrote the article. Metropolitan newspapers have space problems even as small weeklies, so a large percentage of Mona's copy hit the composing room floor, and what was left was of necessity so chopped-up that the editor evidently decided not to give her a by-line. "Since most of Mona's free-lance articles appear under a male pseudonym, (in some of the better men's magazines yet), the neighbors had all been looking forward to seeing her name in print--besides in the Outlook, that is. Better luck next time!

CHEST HONORS MRS. MCDONALD

Mrs. Blair McDonald of Carmel Valley has won a newly-instituted award for chairing the most successful segment of the 1963-64 Monterey Peninsula Community Chest campaign.

The award is the Stephen G. Magyar trophy given to the Chest by Mr. Magyar, general chairman for the campaign just closing. It is to be held by Mrs. McDonald until the 1964-65 campaign, then it will again be awarded to the most successful chairman.

Mrs. McDonald's Carmel Valley Residential team raised $6,016, which was 22 percent over goal and 40 percent better than the amount raised a year prior.

PLANCOM APPOINTS NEW MEMBERS

Mel Blevens and Frank O'Neal were named to the Upper Valley Advisory Committee by the Planning Commission last week; Paul Porter was re-appointed for another three-year term. The three names were submitted jointly by the CV Property Owners Association and the Chamber of Commerce.

Luis Wolter was appointed to the single vacancy on the Lower Valley Advisory Committee.

WITHOUT A LOCATION

After 10 years in Carmel Valley, Berg's Dress Shop will be once again temporarily without a location (it happened before in '57, between leases). Owner Bert Berg, who operates another store in Seaside and started in the Valley shop a decade ago in one-half of what is now Bowers Pharmacy, is negotiating for a location in larger quarters.

STORM HITS CARMEL VALLEY

Rocks, mud, water and debris gushed down from the lofty slopes of Carmel Valley last week-end disrupting traffic on main roads and by-ways, and causing damage to residential property.

It climaxed 10 consecutive days of rainfall that totaled almost 12 inches.

Hardest hit by the assault was the Robinson Canyon Bridge at Farm Center when it buckled under the weight of floating logs and debris jamming on its piers. Residents were alerted at 4 a.m. to move their cars across to the Farm Center.

Foot traffic is open on the bridge and it is hoped with the arrival of Army engineers to have logs and rubbish removed and the bridge propped up and open to one-way traffic in a day or two.

The green steel bridge to the San Juan Ranch opposite the Valley entrance to Miramonte Road was carried down stream.

A steel and concrete foot bridge at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club had to be dynamited by the Army to prevent backed-up flood waters from spreading.

FROM OAKS AND CACTI

All of Charles Schultz characters were called upon to assist Matt Nottenkamper celebrate his sixth birthday at a party given at the Lower Circle home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Nottenkamper. Cups plates, napkins, all decorated with Peanuts and his pals, and a large stuffed figure of snoopy for the centerpiece delighted Matt and his guests who were Mary Jane Reuter and Matt's brother Mark.

REINDEER ATTRACTS CHILDREN

It is not an overgrown puppy, but a very young female reindeer that is being seen at the Carmel Valley Farm Center these days.

The gentle deer is led about on a leash by her master, 23-year-old Robert Jonasson, who resides on Berwick Drive. Her friendly and affectionate nature has proved a great attraction to all the children in the area.

The namesake of Santa's reindeer has a heavy soft coat as did her Lapland ancestors. Her big, brown cow-like eyes crave the affection she is so generously given by the young and the curious. Although 11-months old, she has not yet lost her baby teeth nor her spikes.

She lives in a corral with a Shetland pony and horse, Paycheck, owned by 13-year-old Susan Smith, sister of Jonasson.

Vixen came to live at the home of Richard J. Smith's, Jonasson's parents, Christmas Eve when she was purchased from a Salinas dealer. According to her owner, she is very receptive to obedience and training.

BIRTHS

A son, Mark Michael was born January 16 to Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Wirtz, Canada Way, Carmel Valley.

A daughter, Christine Yoshike, was born January 19, to Mr. and Mrs. William S. Odama, 47 d., Robles Del Rio, Carmel Valley.

CVPOA MEETING

More than 80 persons showed up for the general membership meeting of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association last night in anticipation of a rousing evening of debate with county officials over planning problems.

They didn't get it, because none of the three scheduled speakers showed up.

CVPOA president Bill Brown said he was informed at 4:30 p.m. yesterday that Supervisor Willard Branson could not come because of conflicting AMBAG (Association of Monterey Bay Area Governments) meeting.

County Planning Director Ed DeMars also cancelled out because of the AMBAG meeting, and the third scheduled speaker, former planning commissioner Charles Kramer, was tied up in Santa Cruz with a meeting of the Regional Coastal Commission.

Thus deprived of the opportunity to vent their feelings on such things as the Odello redevelopment plan, the members turned their attention to possible areas of CVPOA concern for 1973.

Discussion ambled along amiably on such things as an expanded membership drive until Lydia Lewis, a Mid-Valley resident, jolted the audience with the statement: "I'd like to see some provision made for low cost housing."

New film series

A six-part dual series of "Great Film Comedians and Sherlock Holmes" will make its spring semester debut at Monterey Peninsula College.

Chase Weaver, film gallery director, said the first two segments in the series will be screened in the MPC Theatre on Feb. 1 with the comedies starting at 8 p.m. and the Holmes feature following at approximately 9:30 p.m.

The first showing includes "Barney Oldfield's Race for Life" which features the Keystone Kops and "The Gold Rush" with Charlie Chaplin. Basil Rathbone and Nigel Bruce team up as Holmes and Watson in the feature film "Sherlock Holmes and the Spider Woman."

Weaver said the series of films is being planned for the entire family and admission for adults is $1 and children are 50 cents for those under 12.

Harold Lloyd, Buster Keaton, Harry Langdon, Laurel and Hardy, the Marx Brothers and W.C. Fields will be screened in the future films along with other Sherlock Holmes films throughout the spring series.

For more information, contact MPC Community Services at 373-5522.

'Two Gentlemen from Verona' readings

"Two Gentlemen from Verona" will be the next Shakespeare play read by the Forest Theater Guild play reading group which meets on Tuesdays at 8 p.m. at the Forest Theater-in-the-Ground on Mountain View in Carmel.

Visitors are welcome to listen or to take a turn reading even though they have no intention taking a part in a play. Charles Thomas, director, will retate the parts.

First Baptist

The Congregation at First Baptist, Carmel desires worship and preaching that is relational in its challenge, and is sensitive to the understanding of personal needs. Pastor McBeth's Sunday morning message title addresses this life style with the title, "When a Man Needs a Priest."

The service begins at 6 p.m. with devotional singing, and those desiring spiritual refreshing are welcomed.

New Magic Carpet play opens Friday

"Miles Portley" the new "Magic Carpet" show that opens Friday in Carmel Valley, has been called a "rock opera."

"That billing might confuse some people," says Jim Mairs, writer, composer, and director of "Miles Portley." "Miles" is an opera in the same broad sense that a work like "The Three-penny Opera" is one. And not all of the music in "Miles" is rock-and-roll. The show also has blues, ballads, patter-songs reminiscent of Gilbert and Sullivan, even a soft-shoe number called "I'm in Love with a Daisy."

In two years, the Magic Carpet has used a great variety of music in their productions--everything from the Beatles and Arlo Guthrie to Strauss and Debussy. But the increasing tendency, as the Magic Carpet idea has developed, has been to use Mairs' own music more and more, and Jagger, Lennon, Bach, less and less. In the last year and a half, Magic Carpet audiences have heard nearly 35 original tunes, all the way from gospel hymns ("Beautiful Soup") and rag-time to the impressionistic incidental music for "Beauty and Beast."

"Miles Portley" of course is about a "not-very-special" turtle who lives in the Fabulous Forest, falls in love with a daisy named Easy, and achieves great feats of song and dance and generosity to outwit the "Powers of Darkness."

The show is based very loosely on the Greek myth of Orpheus, who was the wonderful musician of antiquity. It is fitting that the Magic Carpet story is told with the aid of a lot of happy rhythms and memorable melodies.

Other denizens of the Fabulous Forest help out Miles, the turtle hero--creatures such as the vivacious Wilma Willow, a leprechaun named Mac O'Roone, and a magician named C. Moore, who likes to cook souffles and who works some astounding astrophysics on the charmed crew.

The Magic Carpet has set out to transform the Hidden Valley Theater into a very Fabulous Forest, comprised of the most elaborate setting they've ever presented, with highways and by-ways that reach all the way to the light booth, where dwells C Moore, who also runs the lights. Special acoustic and magical effects will happen with the aid of equipment donated for the show by Warehouse Sound Company, a group of Magic Carpet friends from San Luis Obispo.

"Miles Portley" opens tomorrow, Friday, Feb. 1, and will run for two week-ends, through Sunday, Feb. 10. Show times are, as in the past, 8 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays with a 2 p.m. matinee on both Sundays.

Admission is $1 for children under twelve and $2 for adults. Reservations are recommended; to reserve places or for further information, call 659-3115.

'Remote Islands' to be presented

The Carmel American Field Service (AFS) Chapter will present "The Remote Islands," a slide show narrated by Helen G. Oehler at 8 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 10.

"The Remote Islands" is a slide presentation which shows the life and people of the 10,000 islands scattered over the face of Oceania, from the tiny atoll islets to continental Australia.

Coast Commission meeting Feb. 4

The next regular meeting of the Central Coast Regional Commission will be held on Monday, Feb. 4. The meeting will be convened at 10 a.m. in the Board of Supervisors Chambers, Santa Cruz County Government Center, 701 Ocean Street, Santa Cruz.

Preceding the meeting at 9 a.m., the Planning and Policy Committee will meet in the Commission Conference Room, Room 300.

Starting at 10 a.m., the Commission will hear a presentation on Planning Directions by the City of Capitola followed by a presentation from the Monterey Urban Renewal Agency on the general plan for the Custom House Project. Also planned is the showing of a film entitled "The Poisoned Sea," a film describing the effects of effluent disposal along the southern California coastline.

Oral Communications will be heard at 1:15 or immediately following the lunch recess.

A A classes to begin

The February series of Alcohol and Health classes sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Council on Alcoholism will begin at 7 p.m., Wednesday Feb. 6, and be held each Wednesday throughout the month. The series is open to all persons who seek a better understanding of the subject. A special invitation is issued to teachers (local school districts have approved the course for one unit of professional growth credit) and students.

The classes which are open to the public at no charge are held from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Council offices on the grounds of the Carmel Convalescent Hospital at Highway One and Valley Way. For more information, call the Council, 624-2256.

'Barbary Coast' is shown at Tantamount

"Barbary Coast," described as a rip-roaring drama of passion and lawlessness in San Francisco of the gold resh era, comes to screen life this weekend, Friday and Saturday nights, at the Tantamount Theatre in Carmel Valley.

The late great Edward G. Robinson stars as the man who owns the town. Miriam Hopkins co-starts as the dance-hall queen - the woman he loves, and Joel McCrea is the "good guy" newsman who tries to clean up the town.

Featured players are Brian Donlevy and Walter Brennan.

The New York Times singled out "Barbary Coast" as "one of the showpieces of the season." 1935.

Work experience orientation required

Nearly 1,200 students are expected to be enrolled in work experience education programs at Monterey Peninsula College for the spring semester and all are being required to attend orientation meetings in February.

Dave Spence, work experience coordinator, says students will have the option of selecting one of three such meetings which will be held Thursday, Feb. 7, from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. in Music-1; Friday, Feb. 8, from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the MPC Theater and Saturday, Feb. 9, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon in Lecture Forum 103.

For this meeting, students enrolled in the program, whether they are liberal arts or technical majors, must bring a work agreement, Form WE I, which must be signed by their employer authorizing them to participate in this cooperative work experience program.

A work experience coordinator will be available in the MPC Gym during registration on Jan. 30 and 31 and Feb. 1. Among the many positions included in the program which are available are work experience in administration of justice, art, business, electronics, engineering, hotel-motel and restaurant management, fire science, manufacturing technology, ornamental horticulture, photography, real estate, recreation, and sociology. Each position carries a maximum of four units of college credit.

Positions in general work experience are also available, with a maximum of three units of college credit.

For additional information, contact Spence at 375-9821, ext. 321.

Golden Age Card program to continue

Monterey Peninsula College is continuing its Golden Age Honorary Membership Card program for persons 65 and over.

With this card, Golden Age patrons are entitled to free admission to college sponsored cultural programs and reduced fees for workshops, seminars and forums.

Because many senior citizens are on very limited budgets, according to Keith Merrill, dean of community education, they may hesitate to spend money on cultural or educational "extras."

"We feel we can provide a valuable service to senior citizens by making it possible for them to attend our programs free," he said.

To obtain a card, senior citizens should call MPC Community Services at 373-5522.

Exercise fun program at MPC

An opportunity for young children to have fun through exercise is being offered at Monterey Peninsula College in a gymnastics course for children.

The course is designed for third through eighth grade students, and will meet for two and one-half our classes each Monday beginning Feb. 4.

The $10 registration fee includes tumbling, free exercise, use of the trampoline, rings, even and uneven parallel bars, the side horse, vaulting, the horizontal bar, and the balance beam. Each child should have a gymn uniform, tights, jeans and a sweatshirt.

The class will be conducted by David Stern, MPC instructor, physical education majors and advanced gymnastics students. There will be a special section for physically handicapped children.

Registration must be completed a nd submitted with the fee before the first class meeting. Enrollment will be limited to 150 students per class and registrations will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis.

For additional information, contact the Community Services Office at 373-5522.

Parks Department offers guitar lessons

The Monterey Park and Recreation Department announces that beginning guitar lessons will be offered for children and adults beginning the week of Tuesday, Feb. 5. There will be 12 weeks of guitar lessons and each lesson will run for one hour with a maximum of five students a class.

According to guitar intructor Stefani Mistretta, the lessons will be conducted at the Monterey Youth Center as follows: Tuesdays and Wednesdays at 3:30 p.m. for children 4th grade and up; 4:30 p.m. for junior high and high school students, and at 5:30 p.m. for high school and adults. Thursday classes are for adults and high school students at 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. Special classes may be arranged for students.

For the 12 weeks of instruction the fee for Monterey residents is $34 and for non-residents $38. Interested participants must register in advance at the Monterey Park and Recreation Department, 546 Dutra Street. For further information call the department office, 372-8121, ext. 281.

Talcott proposes reject pay raise

"Any proposed pay raise for the members of Congress which might be proposed this Session whould be rejected as inflationary and the special commission responsible for making recommendations to the President every four years on the matter of Congressional salary increases should be abolished," declared Congressman Burt L. Talcott, today, in Washington.

"The Federal Salary Act of 1967 provided for the formation of a Commission on Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Salaries to submit salary recommendations to the President. When the Congress passed this act seven years ago, it abrogated its traditional responsibility to be held accountable for its own salary increases.

"If the American people are to be expected to support a Congress now asking for expanded responsibilities they must first have a Congress willing to accept a responsibility as basic as reviewing its own salary. I opposed the establishment of the salary Commission and have introduced legislation which would abolish it (H.R.9522) and require Members to vote on all future salary questions," concluded Congressman Talcott.

Stockmen meetings

Two stockmen's meetings have been planned for Monterey. These meetings are being sponsored by the University of California Agricultural Extension, and are being arranged by coastal area farm advisors to help keep livestock producers informed on recent advances in beef cattle production. The meetings are open to the public, and anyone interested in beef cattle is welcome to attend.

The meetings will be held on Tuesdays, Feb. 5 and 12, at the Agricultural Extension building, 118 Wilgart Way, in Salinas and will start at 7:30 p.m. Topics on the program for Feb. 5 include: "Managing the Beef Cow Herd for Size, Milk Production and Calf Crop" by John Dunbar, Extension Animal Scientist, University of California - Davis; "Current Status of Foothill Abortions" by Dr. Gary Deter, DVM Salinas; "New Technology --Its Effect on Genetic Potential" by Marion Stanley, Monterey County Farm Advisor; and "Estate Planning for Ranchers" by James Henderson, Bank of America Trust Department, Carmel.

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

SUSAN HARBERT, DOUGLAS LANG

A FALL WEDDING is one of the happy prospects for this New Year for the Jason Harbert family of Via Petra in Carmel Valley. Lois and Jason recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Susan Lynn, to Douglas Patrick Lang. An Aug. 10 wedding date has been selected by the couple, both graduates of Carmel High School who are presently attending Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff, where Sue is majoring in elementary education and Doug is a physical education major. They are both members of the education honorary society Kappa Delta Pi. They will graduate in the spring of 1975.

The bride-elect is the sister of Kathleen, Laura, Michael, John, and Ellen Harbert, all of the Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lang of Rio Road in Carmel are parents of the future bridegroom, who is the brother of Bradley and Kevin Lang and Richard and Deborah Humm of Carmel. He also has two other brothers, Jay Lang of Santa Cruz and Michael Humm of Los Angeles.

MRS. DON MIDDLETON entertained with a "Pink and Blue Luncheon" at her home on Aliso Road for a lady-in-waiting, Mrs. Larry Cummings. Bringing gifts for the baby-to-be and enjoying the luncheon and the adorable pink and blue cherub cake for dessert were : Sharon Canham, Valerie Spaulding, Barbara Allard, Beth Vannatta, Melody Tocchet, Gail Buche, Isabelle Runnels, and Rosemary Brodrick.

MR. AND MRS. STAN ROBERTS of West Carmel Valley Road welcomed Rosemary's brother, Dr. David J. Brandenburg, who was a Valley guest for a week following the annual meeting of the American Historical Association in San Francisco. Dr. Brandenburg has the Chair of History at the American University in Washington, D.C. and is planning his sabbatical in Europe this summer. It was just a year ago David surprised Rosemary with a swimming pool for her birthday. All arrangements had been completed via phone with Stan who had told all their friends about the exciting surprise. It was not until Rosemary (who learned the news during a birthday phone call) attempted to tell friends that she learned most of the Valley had been carefully guarding the secret! Heat that had been turned off honoring the energy crisis was turned on during his stay with the Valley-ites and their guest enjoying many pleasant hours in the pool while surrounding hillsides were topped with snow.

CUSTOMERS AT the Pool Man Shop in Mid-Valley are receiving a Hawaiian greeting, "Aloha," these days from owners Doris and Dick Wammock, who recently vacationed on the islands of Maui and Hawaii. Discovering that service stations were opened but two hours each day and closed on week ends, the Valley couple dispensed with car rentals with which to explore the islands and enjoyed a great deal of hiking in tropical rains. Congratulations to the Wammocks, who recently celebrated a special event -- their Silver Wedding Anniversary.

THE PILOT ROAD NURSERY -- formerly Brattin's is presently being restocked with honest-to-goodness houseplants, hanging baskets, crafts (including macrame) and will open for limited business on Feb. 9 with a grand opening scheduled for a later date. Two young men from Carmel -- Jerry Allen and Jon Franci -- who own the "J. & J. Garden and Landscaping Business," plan to operate the new Valley venture in conjunction with their Carmel service. Both have had thirteen years gardening experience and Jerry has many friends made during his four years at Carmel's N.B. Flower Shop.

ALL TOO BRIEF was the visit of Bobbe and Bill Hancpol, former Valley-ites who now take their home in Stateline, Nev. The Hancpols had made their snowy journey to deliver one of their famous Tahoe Saint Bernard puppies. Daughters Lindy, Betty, Bridget, and Barna have become enthusiastic participants in snow sports, while Bill, Jr. has the enviable after-school and weekend job of taking tourists into the mountains on Sno-mobile Safaries. Recent clients were Johnny Cash and members of his cast who were appearing at Tahoe and reservations have been made in the near future for Burt Reynolds and Dinah Shore.

Happy Anniversary to Bobbe and Bill, who are celebrating their 25th Wedding Anniversary!

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE BOUGHNER of Cachagua are announcing the marriage of their son, Greg Allan Boughner, to Miss Liane Brigitte Cox of Seaside. The young couple were married Jan. 23 at the home of the bride's parents in St. George, Utah. They will make their home on the Peninsula, where the bridegroom is employed at the Del Rey Oaks Monte Mart.

"COW-BELLES" TO ENTERTAIN CV WOMEN'S CLUB

MRS. DEL GARLINGER representing the "Cow Belles" of the Beef Cattlemen's Association will be the guest speaker at the Wednesday, Feb. 6, meeting of the Carmel Valley Women's Club. Mrs. Garlinger will demonstrate how to cut, prepare, and serve beef to obtain the most for your money from economy cuts. The beef cuts will be awarded as door prizes. Preceding the business meeting and entertainment, members and guests are invited to attend the hot casserole luncheon beginning at 12:30 at the Community Center.

AT THE ANNUAL MEETING of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church, Carmel Valley, the following members of the congregation were elected to the Vestry: Dr. Russell Ryan, Mrs. Nelson Nowell, Mrs. Philip Mothersill, and William Brandt.

Newcomb Diehl was appointed Church Treasurer to take the place of Capt. George Clifford, who will be leaving the Valley for an extended vacation in Hawaii. Capt. Clifford was presented a gift in appreciation of his service to the church as treasurer for the past four years and senior warden for two years previous to his serving as treasurer.

Gifts of appreciation were also presented to Oliver White, James Stewart, Mrs. Winthrop Griffith and Mrs. Richard Wenzlik for their work as vestry members for the past three years.

A visual progress report of the parish was presented at the end of the meeting emphasizing the fact that the present office building is the third addition to the original church building, which was constructed in February of 1964. The congregation has grown from eight families to 127 families in the past ten years.

The office addition, when completed, will contain a business office with space for mimeograph, office supplies and church school materials and a private office for the rector which will provide space for pastoral counseling and a small church library. The plan was drawn by Mel Blevens, a member of the congregation and the architect for the original church building. John Warmington is the contractor. Warmington is also a member of the congregation.

CV COMMUNITY YOUTH CENTER NEEDS CANS!

THE CARMEL VALLEY Community Youth Center is undertaking a seed'ing tree planting project in mid-February and is in need of cans in which to plant the trees until they reach sufficient growth to be set out in the Center's park area.

Board members would appreciate half-gallon cans or the large 46-ounce juice containers. Please wash and leave on the Center's door step in bags or boxes. Your contributions are appreciated.

SHOES FOR NICARAGUA

THE "PROJECT SHOES for Managua, Nicaragua" instigated by Dr. David Morris when he discovered children in the area of the village where he was assigned with a medical team following the earthquake were susceptible to numerous diseases was so successful that once again he is asking for Valley residents to donate outgrown children's shoes to the project. Valley service organizations have agreed to pay the postage fees and the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center is serving as a receiving depot for donations. Any type of footwear (children's--small adults) will be welcomed. Please leave during daytime in front of Center door or place in collection box in Center's foyer when building is in use.

JULIA CHILD'S "BON APPETIT SAN FRANCISCO"

THE "PHANTOM OAK MOTH" received a note from the Women's Board of the Presbyterian Hospital of the Pacific Medical Center in San Francisco that many invitations are in the mail to Valley-ites for a special reception in honor of Julia Child on Friday, March 22, at the Kabuki Theater located in the Japanese Cultural Center in San Francisco.

The reception will precede the Julia Child cooking series which the Women's Board of Pacific Medical Center and Liberty House at the City of Paris are co-sponsoring. The cooking series, "Bon Appetit San Francisco," will begin on Monday, March 25. The sponsor invitations cost $100 per couple and include the cocktail reception in honor of Julia as well as two tickets to any one performance during the series. Both the reception and the cooking series will benefit

Commission's plan to protect coast

By RICK ROBERTS

THE CENTRAL Coast Regional Coastal Commission of the California Coastal Zone Conservation Commission has prepared a technical report "Life in the Sea" that will be the basis of a comprehensive enforceable plan to preserve and protect the coastal waters.

The regional commission will formally act upon the findings and policies in the report at a public hearing in late February. Public comment is invited at the hearing and written comments will be considered in the final staff recommendations if received before Feb. 19.

A public discussion meeting will be held in Lecture Forum 102 at Monterey Peninsula College at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 8 to discuss the "Life in the Sea" report.

The state coastal commission will then be informed of the final recommendations.

"Life in the Sea" makes the following comments about the coastal zone.

-- The living resources of the ocean are vital to man because the sea provides him with food, recreation, and aids his economic and spiritual well-being.

-- The waters that overlay the continental shelves of the world constitute the most valuable part of the sea. Coastal waters are four times as productive as the open ocean. Though this region of ocean comprises 10 per cent of the world's ocean surface, 90 per cent of the world's fisheries are located in the coastal zone.

-- Kelp beds contain an abundant variety of life and the rugged sea bottom increases life productivity.

-- Estuaries and wetlands are rich in nutrients carried from the land by the rivers and streams which also bring fresh water to these areas. When microscopic plants are nurtured a vital element of the basic food chain is maintained. Many sea fishes and animal species use the rich base of the estuaries and wetlands at some point in their life cycle either for habitat, spawning, or feeding. Monterey Bay and Elkhorn Slough are two of the largest estuaries on the California coast.

-- The sea bottom along the California coast possesses 27 submarine canyons which are cut deep into the continental shelf. These topographical features aid the transportation of nutrients and create sunlit zones of water where photosynthesis can take place. Underwater ridges, mountains, and islands also create upwelling of nutrient-rich water.

-- The Monterey Canyon is the largest and deepest submarine canyon on the West Coast. Continual erosion is occurring in the canyon because of currents and seismic activity. The canyon is sufficiently deep to provide a deepwater port facility.

-- Kelp beds or forests serve as sanctuaries, nurseries, habitats, and food sources for more different kinds of plants and animals than a temperate land forest. The central coast kelp beds are also valuable because they are the primary habitat of the endangered sea otters.

-- The living resources of the ocean contribute about $600 million annually to the California economy, including support for processing, retailing, sport fishing, and fishing gear suppliers. The fishing industry is largely dependent on international fisheries management and the maintenance of the marine life habitat.

-- The goal of maintaining harvestable species at "maximum sustainable yield" (the catch level which can support a continued heavy fishery) depends on several considerations.

FOREIGN NATIONS, and federal and state agencies sometimes share the jurisdiction responsibilities over species and water areas. These groups often have conflicting authority and policies. The competition between commercial fishermen, sport fishermen, and others creates problems for some species of fish. And not all of these interests are subject to the same regulations. The "maximum sustainable yield" figures are often disputed by fishermen, who consider the figures to be a punitive weapon against them rather than a fair estimate.

-- Mariculture, which involves the harvesting and cultivation of marine organisms, has been limited to the production of "luxury foods." Estuaries (because of their sheltered waters and stable growing conditions) are the most popular location for mariculture operations. These kinds of operations are also non-polluting in most cases.

-- Elkhorn Slough could be used as a source of shellfish through both mariculture and natural operations, if the water quality is improved by removing the present industrial and agricultural pollution.

-- Estuaries and wetlands are especially vulnerable to misuse and destruction. At the turn of the century, there were 28 sizeable estuary and wetland environments in Southern California alone. Two-thirds of these have been dredged or filled and the remaining one-third degraded by pollution.

Some species that cannot tolerate the warmer water will leave or die off to be replaced by other species which can tolerate the increased heat.

Some native species and mariculture operations will be enhanced, while the reproduction and migratory patterns of other species may be disrupted.

Correction and retraction

In the Dec. 27, 1973 issue of the Carmel Valley Outlook there appeared an article by Evelyn Rhoades titled "Don't Let It Happen to You," which related her experience when Mr. Bob Watkins, who does business as Chiminey Cricket, made a fireplace service call to her home. Mr. Watkins made the call, inspected the fireplace, suggested a remedy and made a $10 charge.

Mrs. Rhoades attempted to write the article in a humorous manner and included what she believed to be humorous descriptions of Mr. Watkins' actions and statements and her own subjective thoughts.

It has been brought to the attention of the Outlook that Mrs. Rhoades' attempt at humor has been misunderstood. The Carmel Valley Outlook wishes to make it clear to Mr. Watkins and the general public that it does not consider the charge he made for a service call from Carmel to Carmel Valley unreasonable and that it was not the intent of the article to state or imply that Mr. Watkins was disreputable nor to reflect unfavorably upon his personal or business integrity.

The purpose of this notice is to correct the article mentioned above, printed Dec. 27, 1973, by stating that if the article directly or by implication holds Mr. Watkins up to contempt or ridicule, or does any damage or injury to his personal or business reputation, or creates any doubt concerning his ability, honesty, or business integrity, any and all such implications and any statements upon which such implications are based are hereby corrected and retracted.

The Carmel Valley Outlook bears no malice, animosity or ill will toward Mr. Watkins and simply made a mistake in publishing an article dealing with a matter of personal customer dissatisfaction with a serviceman's call. For this mistake we publicly apologize to Mr. Bob Watkins.

A 15% ELECTRIC CUTBACK IS NOW AN URGENT NECESSITY.

The California Public Utilities Commission has concluded that the "overall fuel supply situation for California is not sufficient to meet foreseeable generating needs."

It therefore prohibited certain uses of electric energy and ordered PG&E and other electric utilities in the state to inform customers—business and industry as well as homes—of the urgent necessity to "devote full efforts to achieving a minimum 15% reduction in their normal use of electricity."

This is the second emergency measure the Commission has taken to deal with the energy crisis brought on by the shortage of oil to fuel electric generating plants. The already serious oil supply situation has been compounded by the Middle East oil embargo and Department of Defense preemption and diversion of fuel oil supplies destined for the civilian market, the Commission order stated.

How and where to cut back 15%. Use this chart to find where you and your family can cut back 15%.

*KWHRS stands for kilowatthours. Electric power is measured in watts, like gasoline is measured in gallons. All electric appliances and light bulbs are sized, or rated, in watts. Some time ago, someone took the Greek word "kilo" (meaning 1,000) and joined it to "watt." The term kilowatt is simply an easy way to say 1,000 watts. A kilowatthour, then, is 1,000 watts of power used for one hour. One kilowatthour will run a 100 watt light bulb for 10 hours.

The shortage could last through 1976

According to Commission estimates, the energy shortage may be between 10 and 20 per cent of normal usage for the years 1974, 1975 and 1976. So all of us must do our part.

Many businesses and homes already have reduced their electric use substantially. But the overall reduction achieved so far has not been enough to offset the fuel shortage.

If the 15% reduction is not achieved, additional mandatory measures affecting everybody will have to be ordered. The alternatives could be rotating brownouts with all the human hardships and economic difficulties involved.

The situation is serious. It is urgently necessary that you do your part in this crucial situation. And urge your friends and neighbors to do the same.

Tickets for the entire cooking series of four demonstrations alone cost $50 per person, and single performance tickets will be sold at $15 each (the latter sounds like a great activity idea for a program chairman of one of the Valley organizations!).

COMMUNITY CENTER CHINESE NEW YEAR POTLUCK

CONFUCIUS SAY, "Family who tear down to Community Center for Chinese New Year Potluck Dinner have ripping good time!" Perhaps those were not the exact words of the Oriental sage, but board members sponsoring the "Year of the Tiger" celebration feel certain that you will enjoy the festivities to begin at 6 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 9. Slides taken during their four-year stay in Singapore will be shown by Valley residents Mary Kaye and Dick King. Admission to the affair is one potluck dish to serve members of your family plus four (salad, hot dish, or dessert). Tea, coffee, punch, and fortune cookies may be purchased at the "Tea House on Ford Road."

A GARZAS ROAD resident, Dr. Daryl Jewett, was elected chairman of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Board of Trustees at the annual meeting held Sunday at the Fellowship Hall on Village Drive. Serving with Dr. Jewett for the two-year term will be Cmdr. (USN ret.) Elmira Davis, treas.; Mrs. S.N. (Dorothy) Trevino, secretary; Mrs. James (Margie) Ziegler, chairman of music; Tom Little, chairman of Christian Education; John Broberg, chairman of grounds, and members at large: Mrs. Theo (Nellie) Mirani, Paul Edwards, Dr. William Kelly, Emil Hansen, and Col. (USA ret.) Roland Brandly. The business meeting was preceded following the morning service by a family potluck luncheon. Guests enjoyed a musical program with selections presented by Anna Park, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sueng Paik Park, and Michael Arnal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Arnal, who spoke of his recent experiences as an exchange student in Brazil. Board chairmen presented reports reviewing the past year with additional reports from Mrs. Don Johnson for the CV Community Chapel Guild and Mrs. Joseph Stekly for the Guild's Thrift Shop. Robert Arnal introducced the nominees selected by the nominating committee who were installed by Rev. Don Johnson.

CARMEL VALLEY LION, Nick Skalyo--always one with the inside track--told the "Phantom Oak Moth" that he has it on good authority that even the GROUND HOG will come out on Saturday, Feb. 2, to check the bargains offered at the Carmel Valley Lions Club Garage Sale! Doors open at 9 a.m. at the Carmel Valley Community Center on Ford Road and the sale will continue until????? Looking for a golf bag filled with tennis balls...a psychedelic refrigerator.....an 8 mm camera, film splicer, and projector? These and numerous other discoveries await treasure hunters at the Lions' Benefit. Coffee, doughnuts, and home baked goods available at the snack bar staffed by the Carmel Valley Lionettes.

Advance registration for foreign studies

The Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies announces that advance registration for the spring semester has begun and will continue until Feb. 4. Orientation and the first day of instruction are scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 5.

M.I.F.S., which emphasizes programs of professional study centered on an understanding of other nations and their cultural traditions, is the only accredited upper division and graduate school in Monterey County open to the public. It offers courses in foreign languages, world area studies, history, political science, education, international economics and international management. Most of these lead to the B.A. and M.A. degrees.

Two courses of special interest will be offered this spring by the Departments of Political Science and Asian Studies. Dr. Stephen A. Garrett, chairman of the Department of Political Science and Humanities, will lead a stimulating seminar, "The Palestine Question," an intensive analysis of the historical background to the Arab-Israeli dispute, both before and after the founding of Israel. Professor Liang-Yen Chow will present a course entitled "Recent and Contemporary History of China," a study of the development of contemporary China stressing institutional and social changes as well as the Western impact upon traditional China.

Dr. Ly Tran, Chairman of the Department of Education, suggests two courses which may be of particular interest to members of the community. "Children's Literature" will deal with the art of story telling and the creative use of literature in the elementary classroom. "Seminar in School Administration" will stress school-community relations and has been designed to provide students interested in school administration with an opportunity to examine such relations in view of current changes in the public school system.

Other classes offered this spring will include: "Contemporary Novel of French Expression in Black Africa," "The Problem of the Two Germanies," "Diplomatic History of the United States," "The Great Transformation - Far East," "Aspects of Contemporary Indonesia," and "Contemporary Spanish-American Thought."

Interested peninsula residents are encouraged to contact George W. Williams, Dean of Admissions, 425 Van Buren Street, Monterey, 373-4779 for further information.

Internal Revenue telephone assistance

The Internal Revenue Service said today it will offer Saturday telephone assistance for Northern and Central California taxpayers through April 15.

Hours for the service will be from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturdays. In addition, IRS said telephone help is available until 6 p.m. weekdays beginning Jan. 28.

The remainder of the year it will be available from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Taxpayers can contact the IRS by calling the number in the tax instruction booklet which is assigned to the area in which they live.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Your column last week regarding vandalism at the Community Center is most welcome and needed.

Unfortunately, the Community Center is not the only youth-oriented facility that has been subjected to unwarranted and thoughtless vandalism.

We in Carmel Valley have a beautiful Little League Park. Many, many people have donated countless hours and resources to build this park, so our young people could enjoy the association, excitement and learning involved in Little League.

Since our season closed last July 4, here are some of the acts of vandalism that have occurred.

---The scorer's booth was broked into, wrecking the lock and hasp. Paint was taken, poured on the picnic tables and on our new score board.

---The front of the new snack bar was hit by a motor vehicle, putting a sizable hole in the stucco finish.

---Horses have been ridden or allowed to run across both the infield and outfield. This leaves hoof prints virtually impossible to repair.

---At the request of the owners of this property, we placed a gate at the entrance. This gate was rammed and bent, breaking the hasp and ruining the gate.

---The wood trim on the scorer's booth has been torn off, along with some electrical wires, which were left on the ground fastened to a twisted metal road sign.

---The gates entering the playing field have been torn off, along with several boards on the dugouts.

These are just some of the things that have happened since July 4. It is extremely difficult for me to understand why some people will vandal public facilities. Our Little League park, as the Community Center has been built by and for the people of Carmel Valley.

Why must there be those who seem so determined to destroy, that which so many have given so much to develop?

Dick Klingensmith
President, C.V. Little League

Dear Editor:

I have said this before. Now I must say it again, speaking from recent experience.

One of the great advantages of living in Carmel Valley is the service of the Fire Department's Ambulance and Volunteer Ambulance Corps. It is dedicated, prompt, well-trained, and efficient.

Thank you, Chief Collins and Company.
